

and then planarized using a vacuum etch process until a surface of the self planarizing material lies in a plane adjacent to an end of the giant magnetoresistive stack. Magnetic sensors made in accordance with the above methods are also included.

---